Blue Suede Shoes: Aug 15, 2016

- The Memphis Police Department received information from sources before, and during Elvis Week that a group of individuals wanted to use a protest on the night of the Elvis Presley Candlelight Vigil to incite violence.
- The information from these sources and real time information from plain clothes officers embedded in the demonstration suggested that a few members of this protest group intended to draw officers into a physical confrontation. This physical confrontation would be used to escalate the violence.
- Individuals were encouraged to bring cellphones and video cameras to capture officers arresting or assaulting protesters.
- Through extensive planning and preparation the plan to escalate the violence at this demonstration failed. The protesters voiced their concerns, the vigil went as planned, and only three (3) individuals were arrested.
